Hello everyone, nice to meet you all. My name is ShunJie Sha but you can call me Jerry if it makes easy for you. The picture on the left, yes its me.

I am a college student enrolled in Queens College. My major is Computer Science and minoring in Graphic Design and Business and Liberal Art. Compare to Computer Science, I like to design more than staring at screenful of codes for whole day. To be specific, I like to design website that are both functional to use and pleasing to browse. So in the future, I will keep pursue my career as a web designer.

I also likes to play photography, you can check some of the photos I took in the Gallery. I like urban life style which is the reason why I choose New York City as my home-base.
